

Awards INCLUSIVE EDUCATION

The Council for Inclusive Education (CIE) benefits from the significant contributions of its members. Many volunteer their time, effort and expertise far beyond the call of duty. These contributions advance and benefit the field of inclusive education.

The council's annual awards recognize these contributions and outstanding achievements in support of public education in Alberta.

AWARDS

Lorraine Wilgosh Academic Award

The Lorraine Wilgosh Academic Award was established to honour Dr Wilgosh, professor of special education at the University of Alberta. This award recognizes an individual's growth and contribution to the field of inclusive education. It is given to a graduate student enrolled in a postsecondary institution whose research is directly related to the education of students with diverse needs. The award consists of a $1,000 scholarship to support postgraduate studies and a certificate.

Eligibility Criteria

The nominee must be a certified teacher, an Alberta resident and a current member of the ATA Council for Inclusive Education, and provide evidence of the following

- proof of enrolment as a graduate student in a postsecondary public institution,
- relevance of work related directly to students with diverse needs and
- future career goals related to working with students with diverse needs in the public education system.

The nominee must be willing to present the results of his or her research to CIE members and write an article describing an aspect of his or her graduate work in the CIE peer reviewed journal.

Mac Kryzanowski Lifetime Achievement Award

The Mac Kryzanowski Lifetime Achievement Award was established to honour Mac Kryzanowski, former president of the Alberta Teachers' Association (ATA). This award recognizes a teacher or administrator who has demonstrated long-term service, achievement and outstanding contribution to the field of inclusive education. The award consists of a certificate and recognition at the annual CIE conference.

Eligibility Criteria

The nominee must be a certified teacher, an Alberta resident and a member of the ATA Council for Inclusive Education, and provide evidence of the following

- support for students with diverse needs,
- promotion of public and inclusive education,
